1.0 Introduction

The Nova Scotia Department of Energy (DOE) regulates onshore petroleum activity and continues to improve the regulatory environment by streamlining the regulatory approvals process for the onshore petroleum industry. This is a guide on regulatory processes that governs onshore land tenure in Nova Scotia. It is not intended to be a complete description, nor does it replace any of the Legislative Acts and Regulations. As the petroleum industry develops in NS, the regulatory regime that governs it will also develop; therefore, amendments may be made to the legislation from time to time, reference the legislation on the website www.novascotia.ca/energy

This reference tool does not deal with the other aspects of business development, such as employment, incorporation, taxation and so on, that are common to all businesses and industry ventures.

2.0 Purpose

Atlantic Canada has seen a recent increase in oil and gas activity, particularly onshore. Nova Scotia has improved regulatory procedures and processes to accommodate the growing industry in the region. The purpose of this roadmap documentation is to describe the regulatory procedures related to land tenure for the oil and gas activity onshore Nova Scotia. Land tenure is the process by which the Department of Energy approves the right to explore for either conventional or coal gas (coalbed methane) resources to industry, and in return the companies provide rental fees and other related payments to the province of Nova Scotia. As of 2014, there have been no commercial discoveries and no royalties have been collected in the onshore activity, but we are on the edge of this potential opportunity.

3.0 Scope

This publication contains descriptions of procedures in support of Legislative authority and the relevant documents are found within the attached Appendices. This publication is primarily written for oil and gas administrators in both the private and public sectors. This document may be referenced by the public who may be interested in the administration of the province's onshore petroleum rights. This publication contains the overview of regulatory activities for onshore petroleum land tenure only. For information on offshore regulatory procedures and requirements; please visit the Canada Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Board at www.cnsopb.ns.ca

4.0 Acts and Regulations

The Government of Nova Scotia updates its legislation and regulations as required. Relevant land tenure Acts and Regulations can be found in Appendix H of this document. Although every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of this version, the Department of Energy assumes no responsibility for any discrepancies that may have resulted from reformatting. These documents can also be downloaded from the Department of Energy's website. For the official version of regulations, consult the original documents on file with the Registry of Regulations or refer to the Royal Gazette Part II.

For onshore petroleum land tenure in Nova Scotia, all activities fall under the provincial Petroleum Resources Act. The Act is administered under the supervision and management of the Minister of the Department of Energy and gives the Minister the authority to create subsequent regulations. Under the Act, there are several regulations including: the Petroleum Resources Regulations, Onshore Petroleum Geophysical Exploration Regulations and the Onshore Petroleum Drilling Regulations.

DOE works closely with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) as the two departments were joined together in the past. Currently the Registrar is designated from within DNR and the department continues the land tenure registry function. DNR can issue receipts, whereas DOE does not. All cheques should be made out to the Minister of Finance. All documentation and reports should be sent to DOE (unless otherwise stated) and these are forwarded to the Registrar of Minerals and Petroleum Titles at DNR.

5.0 The Nova Scotia Onshore Area

Any company wishing to acquire petroleum rights can nominate land at any time (further information found in Section 5.1 of this document). Under the Petroleum Resources Regulations, the following sections deal with describing land onshore Nova Scotia and could be helpful in the initial land nomination process.

A Claim Reference Map, as seen in Figure 1, illustrates how the land is divided. The map is one quarter of a standard 1:50 000 NTS sheet, lettered A, B, C and D in a clockwise manner from the southeast quarter of the 1:50 000 sheet. This type of grid system is used for land tenure, the naming of petroleum wells and staking mineral claims.

The Land division is comprised of 8 sections of the Regulations; as referenced below:

Section 4 of Regulation

- (1) Maps shall be prepared by and kept at the office of the Registrar.
- (2) Such maps shall be the only official depiction of rights.
- (3) The maps shall be drawn to the following specifications:
 - (a) east and west boundaries shall be true meridians of longitude;
 - (b) north and south boundaries shall be straight lines, parallel to the chord of one-half of the part of the parallel of latitude that represents the boundary of each map sheet;
 - (c) the angle of intersection of each chord on either side of the median meridian of longitude for each map sheet shall be ninety degrees.

6.0 Onshore Rights Issuance

The Nova Scotia Department of Energy encourages onshore petroleum exploration and investment with a streamlined rights issuance system. The Petroleum Resources Division is responsible for issuing and administering onshore petroleum rights. We are committed to doing our part to ensure that onshore energy resources regulations are fair, transparent and workable. An explanation of timelines and how the system works can be seen below.

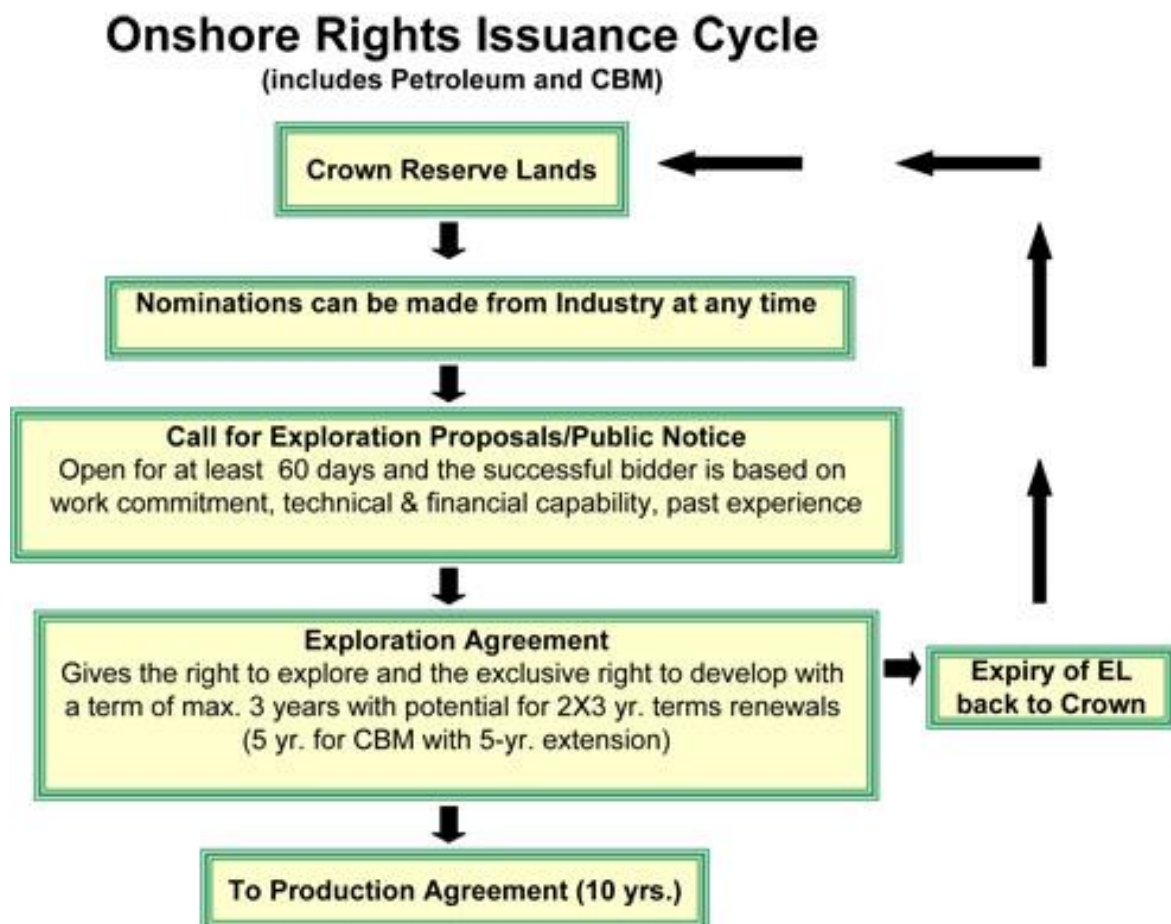

Figure 6
Onshore Rights Issuance Cycle

6.1 Nomination & Call for Bids

Lands may be nominated by industry at any time and usually results in a competitive Call for Exploration Proposals. Applicants should submit a letter detailing nomination area, a map and a completed Application for an Exploration Agreement. Energy has the right to nominate land as well. The Department of Energy works with the Natural Resources Department to determine whether the nominated lands are already under agreement or may have other restrictions. If the lands are acceptable, the Registrar reviews the land description to determine if/what areas would be excluded such as: Wildlife Areas, Provincial Parks, Protected Beaches, Federal Lands and Indian Reserves. For a complete listing, please see Appendix I. The Department of Energy reviews the requested posting and may modify the requested size and configuration in consultation with the company who made the nomination.

The lands will be posted with appropriate conditions outlined and then goes out for a competitive bid. This is called the Call for Exploration Proposals (see Appendix B). Public notice is given for the Call in the Royal Gazette, the Department of Energy website, various industry media postings and direct mail outs. To be added to the direct mail out list, please contact the Petroleum Resources Branch at (902) 424-8114.

6.2 Terms and Conditions for Bid

Calls are open for at least 60 days, and proposals received after the Closing Date will not be accepted and are returned unopened. A selection committee is established to review the applications, and an evaluation sheet is issued to help determine the successful proponent. Please see the Evaluation Sheet in Appendix C.

Two clearly labeled envelopes (“Envelope #1” and “Envelope #2”) must be submitted. The evaluation shall be conducted in two stages. Both stages include mandatory criteria. The first stage is an evaluation of information submitted in Envelope #1. This envelope shall be judged first to assess the technical and financial capacity of the Applicant and other requirements described in Article 3.1 found in the Call. Proposals meeting the criteria for the first stage will proceed to the second stage which will consist of a review of the information submitted in Envelope #2. This stage discloses the dollar value of the Work Program to be undertaken by the Applicant on the block described in Schedule “A”.

6.3 Selection

The committee will recommend a successful bidder to the Minister based on work commitments, experience, technical and financial capability. The final decision of the Proposals is authorized by the Minister of Energy or the Minister’s designate. The Minister may select a proposal or reject all proposals within 90 days of the closing date. The Department of Energy is not required to select a successful bid if none meet all criteria stated in the Call. Once the Minister has selected a successful Applicant, the company will be notified in writing. Any unsuccessful applicants will also be notified in writing that they were not successful. The name of the successful applicant and the amount bid for the parcel will be posted on the Department’s website but no information is provided on unsuccessful bids.

6.4 Requirements of Successful Applicant

Work Program

Within 45 days of the selection of their Proposal, the successful Applicant is required to submit a Work Program to the Minister.

Exploration Agreement

The successful Applicant will have 14 days after the Minister’s acceptance of the Work Program to submit an executed Exploration Agreement, any required letter of credit or acceptable financial security, and any required Certificates of Insurance to the Minister (see Appendix D). Notice in writing to the successful Applicant of the acceptance of its Proposal by the Minister and the subsequent full execution of a written Exploration Agreement will constitute a contract. No person will acquire any legal or equitable rights until the occurrence of both events.

7.0 Onshore Agreements

The Agreement Holder is a company registered to carry out business in the Province of Nova Scotia. The Department of Energy gives the Agreement Holder the exclusive right to explore for petroleum (either coal gas or conventional) and the exclusive right to apply for a production lease/agreement in respect to the area in question according to applicable regulations. This does not give the right to extract or produce except for quantities necessary for testing authorized by the Minister.

7.1 Classification of Agreement

Classification

- Conventional Oil & Gas (includes Shale)
- Coal Gas

7.2 Type of Agreement

Type

- Exploration– acquires the exclusive right to undertake exploration activity
- Production – acquires the exclusive right to undertake production activity

7.3 Agreement Terms

Conventional Agreement

- Exploration Agreement has initial term of 3 years, can be renewed twice up to a maximum of 9 years (3x3x3)
- Production Lease has an initial term of 10 years but can be renewed if production has commenced

Coal Gas Agreement

- Exploration Agreement has an initial term of 5 years, with one renewal for a maximum of 10 years (5x5)
- Production Agreement has an initial term of 10 years but can be renewed if production has commenced

Terms can be extended, surrendered, or cancelled in accordance with the Act and the regulations.

7.4 Renewals and Extensions

These are decision points that often follow the initial terms of an exploration agreement. These tenure documents are signed by the Minister of Energy based on staff recommendations and past performance of the companies requesting the renewal or extension.

Renewals

Renewals have a defined tenure period that matches the original tenure period of the original agreements. Renewals are only given if the company has done work in the original term of the Agreement and the Department is satisfied with the company's performance in the initial term of their agreement. The request must be received not less than the 60 days before the expiration of the Agreement. This request does require a new Work Program to be negotiated and amended to Schedule II of the agreement. The Agreement will not be renewed if both the Province and the holder are not able to agree to a new Work Program.

Under Exploration Agreements:

Conventional - Original term - 3 years, and after that term, the company can apply for two additional renewal terms (each for 3 year increments) – but an exploration agreement cannot exceed a total of 9 years.

Coal Gas – Original term - 5 years and after that term, the company can apply for one additional renewal term (for 5-year term) – but an exploration agreement cannot exceed a total of 10 years.

Extensions

Extensions can be requested and are often for smaller terms than the renewal terms and are not considered renewals. Extensions are considered on a case by case bases. Extensions are often used if a company needs additional time to meet the original commitments under their agreement. Often these extensions are a result of external factors that were not taken in consideration when the agreements were originally awarded.

7.5 Reporting and Data Submission

All agreements types have annual reporting requirements. These reporting and data submission requirements vary depending on type of activity.

7.6 Financial Securities Document

Security and Bonds

The holder shall provide an irrevocable letter of credit to the Province in a fixed amount of twenty percent of the value of the Work Program for each year that the agreement is in effect. This security payment will secure the holder's performance for the full term of the Agreement and any extension or renewal. If the holder wants to modify the Work Program which increases its value, the Minister may require an additional sum to secure the performance of the holder by means of an additional irrevocable letter of credit or to increase the original letter of credit.

The bond shall be forfeited in whole if the Agreement Holder does not fulfill the obligations for which the bond is posted. An Agreement Holder may apply to the Minister for reduction of the amount of the performance bond and, upon being satisfied that the holder has, since being granted the exploration agreement, or since the date of a previous bond reduction, fulfilled a portion of his exploration program and that the portion has a certain value, the Minister may authorize the amount of bond to be reduced by such amount as the Minister considers appropriate.

The Minister may return the performance bond where in the opinion of the Minister a failure to fulfill the obligations under an exploration agreement is the result of technical difficulties beyond the Agreement Holder's control despite adherence to good oilfield practices; further performance under an exploration agreement would not be reasonable in the Minister's opinion; or the obligations for which the bond is posted have been performed to the satisfaction of the Minister.

7.7 Rentals & Filing Fees

Rental Fees

The Company must submit the rental fee annually and in advance on the agreement anniversary date. The Petroleum Resources Regulations prescribe an annual rental on exploration lands of $0.15 per hectare as the rental fee. The first year rental, together with a $1,210.60 exploration proposal filing fee, must be submitted with the proposal in the form of a bank draft or certified cheque payable to the Minister of Finance, Nova Scotia (Please refer to the Department of Energy for all current pricing). If the proposal is not accepted, the rental fee and filing fee will be returned to the Applicant, without interest, following the execution of an Exploration Agreement with the successful Applicant.

7.8 Insurance

All operations approved under a petroleum agreement are subject to the insurance clause as defined by the agreement. The Agreement Holder will have coverage as described in Schedule V, please see example in Appendix D. Insurance must be maintained during the entire term of the Agreement and copies of the insurance need to be submitted to the Department of Energy to ensure coverage.

7.9 Information Notices

The Department of Energy sends Information Notices to current holders concerning updates and/or changes to onshore activities. These include fee increases, regulation amendments and logistical changes from the Department etc.

8.0 Local Benefits

Every twelve months the Agreement Holder shall report to the Minister of Energy with regards to the goods and services within Nova Scotia relating to their activities. The company must demonstrate and specify how they rely on local goods and services when possible. Regulations require the utilization of services provided from within Nova Scotia and the utilization of goods manufactured in the Province or where not so manufactured, provided from within Nova Scotia.

The Agreement Holder must also confirm the use of qualified employees and independent contractors residing in Nova Scotia when possible; also that contract workers are in accordance with the Regulations. For more information, please review Section 20 of the Petroleum Resources Regulations.

9.0 Service Standards and Approvals

The Province of Nova Scotia is committed to the Better Regulation Initiative (BRI) which reduces paperwork burden and ensures turnaround time for most licenses and permits issued by the province. Service standards longer than 10 days are recognized as appropriate for more complex applications. Many of the Petroleum applications are not appropriate for a 10-day service standard because of the need for complex analysis, review, and critical steps are included in the consideration of the applications. These are continuously streamlined, making it easier to do business in Nova Scotia. When approval timelines are predictable, the onshore companies can align activities; such as gathering personal or equipment. Review Appendix F for a full listing of service turnaround times and Appendix G for a breakdown of relevant land tenure Ministerial approvals.

10.0 First Nations Consulting

The Province has a duty to consult with First Nations respecting activities in Nova Scotia. The Department of Energy consults with aboriginals on all major energy projects. Together, the Department of Energy and the Mi'kmaq have developed "The Energy Consultation Table". It's a consultation process to assist in working collaboratively and positively on the development of Nova Scotia's offshore and onshore energy sector. We do this to ensure the aboriginal community receives firsthand information about energy resource development; to help communities broaden their understanding of the energy industry; and to address Mi'kmaq issues and concerns.

If the Province deems there is a duty to consult, the Agreement Holder shall agree, with the help and assistance of the Province, meet with First Nations to review and discuss economic opportunities and other activities to be performed under the Agreement. The Department of Energy sends letters to the First Nations Representatives to inform the Aboriginal Community in question of any work in the area. The Department asks the rep to call or meet to discuss any concerns of possible sensitive areas the Province may not be aware of. This is done before the blocks are finalized for agreements and before the company has been selected. An information session is an opportunity for the Province and the Mi'kmaq community to open dialogue regarding opportunities with onshore exploration. There is ongoing consultation throughout the life of the Agreement, especially as we move towards development opportunities.

11.0 Royalties Structure

How are royalties calculated?

All petroleum, except for coal gas, produced under the authority of a lease is subject to a royalty of ten percent (10%) of the petroleum that is produced in each month. Royalty shall be based on the fair market value of petroleum at the wellhead. In determining the royalty to be paid on any petroleum other than oil, there shall be deducted an allowance for the cost of processing or separation as determined in any case by the Minister. No royalty shall be calculated or paid with respect to any oil or gas that is produced from the first lease that is granted with respect to lands subject to an exploration agreement for a period of two years from the date of commencement date of the lease.

All coal gas produced under the authority of a coal gas production agreement is subject to a royalty of five percent (5%) of the coal gas produced in each month. Royalty shall be based on the fair market value of coal gas at the surface outlet.

What are royalties paid on?

All petroleum produced under every lease is subject to royalties payable to the Province. No royalty is payable for petroleum that is consumed for drilling, producing, extracting, testing or treating purposes within the lands under the production lease. No royalty is payable for petroleum that is injected into a formation for conservation purposes in accordance with good oilfield practice. Unless the Minister otherwise orders, no royalty is payable for petroleum that is consumed for the operation or maintenance of production facilities, or that is flared, vented or otherwise destroyed.

When are royalties paid?

The amount of royalty required to be paid shall be paid on or before the 25th day of the month next following the month of production. Where a royalty has not been paid when due, the interest holder is liable for interest on the amount outstanding at an annual rate of eighteen percent (18%).

New Onshore Royalty Administration Regulations are being drafted to add clarity around onshore royalty requirements.
